

WHEELER PROSECUTION WILL GO ON SAYS STONE

Another Witness Defends Young

SAYS HE ASKED DEPUTY TO NOT DRAW GUN

No Demonstrations To Be Allowed at Funeral of Raider

Herrin, Ill., Jan. 28.—(By The Associated Press)—Until the funeral cortege of S. Glenn Young, Ku Klux Klan liquor raider, who with Deputy Sheriff Ora Thomas and two others was slain in Saturday's shooting affray here, leaves the city tomorrow and arrives at the cemetery, every effort will be made to avoid anything that might prove irritating. Klan officials said. He will be buried with the Klan ceremonial, but within the city it will be an ordinary funeral, they said.

"Invitations have been sent to most of the Illinois Klaverns and if the weather is good, I expect 35,000 or 40,000 people to attend," an official said.

"Perhaps there will be as many as 60,000 Klansmen at the grave. No burning crosses will be displayed, but one small cross electrically lighted will be used. Reports that twelve white horses will draw the hearse are not true. We wish to avoid anything offending to others."

Inquest Continues

The inquest into the death of the two leaders in the factional strife and into the death of Ed. Forbes and Homer Warren, reputed Klan sympathizers, continued today with a number of witnesses said to belong to the anti-Klan faction in the county subpoenaed to appear.

The jury will adjourn tomorrow noon, according to Coroner Bell, and a verdict is possible by Thursday evening.

Two sessions ended last night, when sympathizers of Young had their day before the jury. All of the witnesses told stories similar in many respects to the version related by Young's widow who expressed pleasure that they supported her vision of the affair.

Young Lured to Death

Mrs. Young has contended that her husband was lured to his death by the mysterious shot which preceded the shooting and stoutly denied that Young fired the opening shot. She named Ross Lizenby, night policeman as the man who, by a lone pistol shot, lured her husband to his death.

Her friends testified that the flash of the gun was very close to where Lizenby was standing, that he fell and as he arose he put a gun in his pocket.

Jack Rowe, a witness told his story of the tragedy. When he arrived in the cigar store Thomas walked up to Young and pulled his gun, he said.

"Glenn said to him 'don't pull that gun, Ora. Don't pull that gun and kept stepping back,' Rowe testified.

"Ora kept moving up and Glenn kept slipping back," he continued. "Glenn was facing him at an angle. Then Thomas fired."

AMENDMENT FOR CHILD LABOR IS VIRTUALLY BEATEN

Rejection By Thirteen States Prevents Ratification.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—(By The Associated Press)—Beaten in the legislatures or by referendum in thirteen states, the child labor amendment to the federal constitution virtually has been defeated.

The adverse action of the thirteen has rendered impossible the necessary ratification by three-fourths of the forty-eight states, unless some of the legislatures opposed to ratification vote to reconsider. So far no move in that direction has been made.

Sixteen states have considered the congressional proposal to amend the constitution so Congress might legislate in regard to employment of children under eighteen years of age. One or both houses of the legislature have rejected the amendment in North and South Carolina, Georgia, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, North and South Dakota, Kansas, Ohio, Washington and Delaware.

In Massachusetts, the proposed amendment was rejected by a referendum vote last November. In Washington, the state senate has sent the house a bill which would submit endorsement to the people in 1926.

The senate of Wyoming has voted to postpone indefinitely a resolution of ratification.

California and Arkansas were the only states favoring the proposal.

Re-consideration in several states is unlikely because of the large vote against ratification.

URGES CONTINUED FIGHT

Chicago, Jan. 28.—The discrediting of national control of child labor has gone arm and arm with discrediting of state control, declared O. R. Lovejoy, general secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, in an address prepared for delivery today before the City Club of Chicago.

States in voting against ratification have gone on record against child labor standards, he asserted.

"The middle western states which, he said, have good child labor laws, should help children in other states to have as good a chance for life as their own children have."

Sends Special Message on Subject; Federal Board.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Jan. 28.—President Coolidge asked Congress today to enact into law "at the earliest possible date" the measures recommended by the agricultural commission.

The report recommends creation of a federal board to encourage cooperative marketing, greater assistance to agricultural experiment stations, added protection under the tariff law for farm products and enactment of several pieces of legislation related to agriculture.

"I am advised that while it (the commission's report) does not refer to some legislation which is already pending, that the conference reserves the privilege of making further suggestions at some future time," the President said in his brief message of transmittal.

"As I have great confidence in the personnel of the conference and know that they have given very thoughtful study to the entire situation, I recommend that their report be embraced in suitable legislation at the earliest possible date."

STONE MAY BE GIVEN CHANCE TO STATE CASE

May Appear in Senate Judiciary Committee During Day.

BULLETIN

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Jan. 28.—Attorney General Stone was invited today by the Senate Judiciary Committee to appear before it at a public session and make a statement relating to the controversy which is delaying his confirmation as a justice of the Supreme Court.

The principal subject of discussion was the effort of the justice department to secure a second indictment against Senator Wheeler, indicted in Montana on a charge of accepting money for practicing before a government department.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, Jan. 28.—The Senate Judiciary committee was called in special session today to consider anew the nomination of Attorney General Stone to be a Supreme Court justice in the light of developments which have arisen to delay confirmation.

The expectation prevailed among Senate members that the Attorney General would be invited by the committee to appear at the session and present a statement as to the matters which have arisen to delay confirmation.

Discussion on the Senate floor, in connection with the re-considering of the nomination, has concerned both the move by the department of justice to obtain a second indictment against Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, in the District of Columbia, and Mr. Stone's service as counsel for the estate of J. A. Osborne in a suit against J. A. Osborne of Colorado.

It was understood in some quarters at the capitol today that Mr. Stone would not be adverse to appearing at an open session of the committee if this would not prejudice the district grand jury's consideration of the Wheeler case as now planned, early next month. Because of this contingency an open session seemed improbable.

YEAR IN JAIL FOR FAILURE TO SUPPORT FAMILY

Judge Crabtree Gave Guy Moser Heavy Punishment.

The legal as well as the humane obligations of a husband to his wife and family were seriously considered by County Judge John B. Crabtree Tuesday afternoon when he listened to the testimony in the case of Guy Moser, who was arrested earlier in the day on a charge of wife and child abandonment. Moser was alleged to have left his wife and several children without providing for the support or comfort and was arrested by Deputy A. H. Hill.

Judge Crabtree imposed a sentence of one year in the county jail, where Moser was taken at the conclusion of the hearing. The court took the attitude that there have been altogether too many such cases in Lee county and that severe penalty was necessary in order to curb the rapidly increasing number of cases. In imposing sentence the court stipulated that Moser be confined in the county jail for a period of one year, and advised the defendant that at such time as he decided to provide for and care for his family, that he could appear in court and be admitted to parole.

SUIT OVER NOTE BEING TRIED FOR THIRD TIME HERE

VanPetten Man is Defendant in Suit in Circuit Court.

The second panel of the petit jury reported Monday and a jury was selected to hear evidence in the case brought by the First National bank of Sterling against Elmer H. Hess, proprietor of the general store and automobile agency at Van Petten. This marks the third time that this case has been tried in the Lee county circuit court.

The jury disagreed at the first trial which was conducted before Judge Harry Edwards. A motion for a new trial was granted and Judge Franklin J. Stransky then heard the case, at which time a jury brought in a verdict in favor of the defendant. Another motion for new trial was granted and a jury is again hearing the case.

The suit is brought by the First National bank of Sterling against Elmer H. Hess to determine the liability for a note in the sum of $8,500 given by the Superior Motor Car company, in 1917. Clyde Smith of this city and Carl Sheldon of Sterling are representing the bank while H. C. Warner of this city and Jacob Cantlin of Rock Falls are representing the defendant.

The taking of testimony was started Monday and was still under way at noon today.

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 28.—William (Bossy) Earl Johnson, negro, 56, yesterday afternoon was sentenced to 25 years in the Leavenworth penitentiary and fined $10,000 upon his conviction of possessing and selling narcotics.

On account of Johnson's age and health, the sentence is regarded as a life term. Motion for a new trial was denied, but Attorney Dougherty for the defense was given thirty days to file exception to the verdict. The sentence was one of the strictest ever handed out in district court here. Johnson was found guilty on 44 counts of an indictment that contained 110. If the sentences on the separate counts had run consecutively, Johnson would have received a total of 215 years in the federal prison. He was sentenced to five years and fined $2,000 on each of counts 1, 2, 69, 108 and 110. Counts 65 and 107 inclusive, the negro was sentenced to five years on each count.

AURORA CHIEF NOT CALLED IN LINCOLN TRIAL

Man Who Obtained True Confession Insists Slayer is Insane.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Chief of Police Frank Nichols of Aurora who first suspected that Warren Lincoln might be his brother Byron Shoup and to whom Lincoln eventually confessed that he killed the two and sealed their heads in a cement block, has not been subpoenaed by the state in the trial now on, it was learned today.

State's Attorney Charles Abbott said he had not decided whether to call Chief Nichols.

The chief has repeatedly stated that Lincoln is deranged. His stand has created an anomalous situation where in the man who tracked down the killer is now seeking to prosecute him from the gallows that he slew his brother. Witnesses have been put on the stand since Saturday who have established that Mrs. Lincoln and Shoup were murdered and that Lincoln, after the killings, posed as his wife in letters to her people to get money and to make it appear that she and her brother were living under assumed names to cheat suits filed by her husband. Written confessions made by Lincoln to Chief of Detectives Otto Wirz of Aurora have also been introduced but in all of them, Lincoln insisted he burned the bodies and that he killed his wife in self-defense after she had slain her brother. First admittance that he slew the two and put their heads in the concrete block was made to Chief Nichols. This confession is in writing and signed.

Ralph Shoup of Mt. Pulaski another brother of slain Mrs. Lincoln and Byron Shoup, was the first witness introduced but in all of them, Lincoln insisted he burned the bodies and that he killed his wife in self-defense after she had slain her brother. First admittance that he slew the two and put their heads in the concrete block was made to Chief Nichols. This confession is in writing and signed.

MAY WHEAT IN BIG LEAP; IS OVER $2 TODAY

Is Outside Figure Made Since Deal in May 1888.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—May wheat today went above the $2 mark shortly after the opening of the Board of Trade session here. General buying by commission houses took place after the opening and absorbed immense profit taking sales which quickly sent initial values upward.

Initial quotations on May were $1.99 1/2 to $2 or a net gain of 1/4 to 1/2 over yesterday's finish. European news continued bullish today and with increase buying May wheat fractionally above the $2 mark, the outside figure made during the Hutchinson deal of 1888 when wheat for future delivery reached $2.

Within the first hour, the market displayed considerable activity, buying being persistent. Strength in Winnipeg and Buenos Aires was a factor in focusing the upturn. May touching 2.02 1/2, within the first half hour. September also showed initial figure made, however, started at a decline, but soon rallied.

Immense trading in wheat continued with the same consistent run of buying orders which have been so much in evidence since the opening. An hour and a half after the market opened May was up around 5c over yesterday's finish. Profit taking on a big scale was absorbed readily.

ATTY. GENERAL TELLS SENATORS HE'LL NOT QUIT

Opposition to Place in High Court is Not Effective.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Senators who are blocking Attorney General Stone's nomination to the Supreme Court because of his part in the Wheeler case were told flatly by Mr. Stone today that the proceedings against Senator Wheeler not only would continue, but that he as attorney general, accepted full personal responsibility for them.

Facing Senator Wheeler and his Montana colleague and counsel, Senator Walsh, across the conference table of the Senate Judiciary Committee the Attorney General said the evidence gathered by the justice department for presentation to a grand jury here next week not only indicated a conspiracy to defraud the government, but that Senator Wheeler was connected with some of the actions complained of.

Without mentioning directly the charge of some senators that Senator Wheeler is being "persecuted" by an attempt to try him far away from home in a case already pending in Montana, Mr. Stone declared he regarded the two proceedings as entirely independent of one another.

Senator Walsh cross questioned the attorney general at length, but the latter declined to go into detail as to the evidence which is in the government's possession and for the hearing of which a grand jury was impaneled today in the District of Columbia supreme court.

A priest last night administered pre-death rites to Torrio, who has small chance for recovery, physicians said.

Shot Self as Wife Listened Over Long Distance Telephone

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Baffled in efforts to recoup his fortunes, Frederick A. Sibbold, Jr., one time head of construction companies here and in Miami, Fla., last night killed himself with a shot gun in a downtown hotel while his wife listened on the telephone.

Responsibility for failure to obtain employment here and in New York probably deranged his mind, his wife said. In a letter to her found in the room, he asked that his body, clad in hunting clothes, be cremated and the ashes scattered over a lake and in a woods in Minnesota where he had hunted.

Nine bills were introduced in the Senate before that body retired to meet again at 1 o'clock to head the assignment of members to committees. It was said when the caucus opened, that only two posts remained undecided, those of chairman of the appropriations and utilities committees. Both Richard Meents, Ashkum, and Harry G. CHRISTIAN NATIONS
MUST GIVE BEST TO REST OF HUMANITY

—PRESIDENT COOLIDGE
Chief Executive Opened
Conference on Foreign Missions.
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Jan. 28.—Christian churches and governments were declared by President Coolidge today to have "no greater responsibility than to make sure that the best, and not the worst, of which Christian society is capable, shall be given to the other peoples."

This, with other views on the foreign missionary question, were presented by the President in an address to the meeting here of the foreign missions conference of North America, an inter-denominational gathering of the foreign mission interests of the Protestant churches of the United States and Canada.
"Not everything the men of Christian countries have carried to the other peoples of the world has been good and helpful to those who have received it," the President said. "We know that the missionary movements have repeatedly been hampered, and at times frustrated, because some calling themselves Christians and assuming to represent Christian civilization have been actuated by un-Christian motives. Our missionary efforts will be more effective, just in proportion as we shall render them in the same spirit of brotherhood and charity which marked the earliest Christian
missions."

Charged With Great Trust
Mr. Coolidge emphasized that the Christian nations had become in a practical as well as a spiritual sense, charged with a great trust for civilization. In the discharge of this trust, particularly in its spiritual phases, true service has consisted, could be rendered only "under the inspiration of a broader and genuine liberalism."

"It must rest on toleration," he declared. "It must realize the spirit of brotherhood. And the foundation of all missionary effort abroad must be toleration and brotherhood at home.
The most effective missionary work will be that which seeks to impress itself rather through example in living rightly than through the teaching of precept and creed. The works of charity and benevolence, of education and enlightenment will best lay the foundation upon which to rear the permanent structure of a spiritual life."

Liberalism Must be Generous
"Our liberalism needs to be generous enough to recognize that missionary effort will often build better foundations already laid than by attempting to substitute a complete new structure of morality of life and of ethics. Indeed, those who shall go out from among us, carrying the missionary message into the twilight places of the world will there find much that is worthy to be brought back to enrich our ideals and improve our life. They will learn many lessons of industry, of humility, of reverence for parents, of respect for constituted authority, which may quite conceivably become addenda to our own social fabric. Beyond that they will be able to bring back, much that will serve us well. We have not all the wisdom that has diffused among the sons of men. But we have been greatly favored and have much wherewith to aid those less richly endowed."

Menus for a Family

Breakfast—California grapes, whole wheat cooked cereal, thin cream, broiled bacon, scrambled eggs, rye muffins, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Vegetable soup, croquettes, toasted cheese sandwiches, pear and rice pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—Roast beef, Yorkshire pudding, brown gravy, mashed potatoes, tenderloin, apple-celery nut salad, canned cherries, spice cake, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

Yorkshire pudding is not considered a food for children under school age, but the remaining dishes suggested provide sufficient choice and nourishment for the needs of young children. The roast beef should be rare and cut very fine for children of four years of age. The potatoes, kale, a little salad, bread and butter and milk with the beef furnish a well balanced meal.

Rye Muffins.
One and one-half cups rye flour, 1 cup flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons molasses, 1 cup milk, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons melted butter.

Mix and sift flour, rye flour, baking powder and salt. Add molasses and mix well. Add milk, slowly, stirring constantly. Beat in well beaten egg and add melted butter. Fill oiled and floured muffin pans not more than two-thirds full of batter and bake 25 minutes in a hot oven.

Pear and Rice Pudding.
One pint can pears, 3 tablespoons rice, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 cups milk, 2 eggs, 1/2 lemon (grated rind and juice), 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 4 tablespoons powdered sugar.

Wash rice well and let stand in cold water for 1 hour. Drain. Put into double boiler with milk, sugar, lemon rind, butter, salt and lemon juice. Bring to the boiling point and then cook over boiling water until tender. Stir in yolks of eggs and cook a few minutes longer to cook the eggs. Press into a shallow mold. Remove from mold onto a large plate.

Strain sirup from pears. If sirup is light, add 4 tablespoons sugar to one cup of juice and boil rapidly until reduced one-half. Add pears and vanilla and let stand until pears are thoroughly heated. Arrange pears on top of mold, pour over sirup. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry, fold in powdered sugar and spread over top and sides of rice and pears. Put in a moderate oven for eight minutes to cook the meringue.

Miss Burkholder and Mr. Wise Married

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Lula Burkholder and Russell Wise, two popular Sterling young people, which occurred in Chicago on Saturday. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock at a Methodist parsonage on the west side, by Rev. Smith. The single ring service was used. Sunday the young couple visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Gebhardt, formerly of Sterling and returned to Sterling Sunday night.

Both young people are graduates of the Sterling township high school. The groom also attended Wabash college, where he was one of the football stars. For the present Mr. and Mrs. Wise expect to make their home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Wise, 709 West Wallace street, Sterling. Later they probably will make their home in Milwaukee, Wis. The best wishes of a host of friends are extended to the couple.

Monday evening an elaborate wedding dinner was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wise at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Addie L. Talbott, 1011 Fifth avenue, Sterling. The guests were relatives and friends of both young people.

A feature of the dinner was a very large wedding cake which was baked by grandparents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Strong. It displayed the skill in culinary art of Mr. and Mrs. Strong. The cake was six tiers high and covered with stars and adorned on top with a confection of all bouquets. It required thirty-eight eggs to bake it and it weighed forty pounds. The colors used on the cake were green and delicate pink.

After the dinner a reception was tendered to the newly married couple.

Dixon friends will be interested in the above announcement as Miss Burkholder has visited in Dixon many times and football fans will be especially interested as Mr. Wise was the trustee left end on the Dixon Legion football team this year. All unite in extending best wishes for the happiness of the young couple.

Phidian Art Club Meeting

The Phidian Art club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. D. Alexander, the attendance being unusually large, and the meeting most enjoyable.

Miss Alice Coppins played two Kreislern numbers on the violin, a paraphrase on Paderewski's "Minute" and "Polichinelle," and responded to an encore with "Fragrance" by Cecil Burleigh. Miss Coppins' sister, Mrs. Dwight Chapman accompanied at the piano. This music was most delightful and much appreciated.

The paper of the afternoon, was a book review entitled "The Americanization of Edward Bok" given by Miss Fannie Murphy. This is the story of the life of the man who was editor of the Ladies' Home Journal for thirty years and who built that magazine up and enlarged its growth, until it had two million subscribers. It was also the story of thrift, ambition, thoroughness and consecration to a purpose, which may well be imitated by all. The story tells of Mr. Bok's youth-filled poverty, his school education ending at thirteen and in after years, his journalistic success.

The Woman's club extended to the members of the Phidian Art club, an invitation to hear Dr. Helronymous of the University of Illinois on Feb. 13th.

During the serving of the tempting refreshments following the program, Mrs. A. W. Chandler and Mrs. E. M. Goodsell poured.

Mrs. W. D. Parker and Mrs. Otto Sherbert of Amboy were in Dixon yesterday. Mesdames Parker and Sherbert are both great friends of Arthur Koch and his family. Mr. Parker is greatly interested in music and musicians and resides part of the time in Minneapolis where many musicians appear. Mr. Koch, the famous pianist who has appeared in Dixon several times and on Dec. 11th in Amboy, appeared at the auditorium in Minneapolis on Sunday with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, as their soloist, received much applause and flattering reviews from the critics of the city, especially from the Minneapolis Sunday Tribune. It is hoped that this talented young musician may again come to Dixon, for the delight of music lovers here.

Arthur Altman graduates from Washburn College.

Dixon friends will be pleased in learning of the good news of a former Dixon boy, Arthur Altman, son of Rev. and Mrs. Altman, former pastor of the St. Paul's Lutheran church and his wife. Mr. Altman recently graduated from Washburn College, Topeka, Kas., in the law school. In the class of which there were twenty-six members, twenty of them passed the graduation and were admitted to the practice of law.

On Road to Boneyard

"I have just finished a treatment of your wonderful remedy and can say it has done wonders for me already. For the past five years I have been unable to eat any but the lightest food and that but sparingly, as any food caused me to flinch with gas. I was reduced to a skeleton of ninety pounds, and was on the road to the boneyard. A friend in Birmingham sent me a bottle of May's Wonderful Remedy, which I took, and I am sure it will entirely cure me of my trouble, judging from what it brought from me and the way I feel." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allows the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—Ad.

WESTERN INFLUENCE.

Much ado is being made by some writers over the gain of the west in congress. Thus for it is based upon the succession of Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas to leadership in the senate and right of way to Borah of Idaho as chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, both positions held by Senator Lodge at the time of his death.

Gains in the west will be welcomed, but, after all, will we have so much more than we have had in past decades?

Until Gillette of Massachusetts was elected speaker of the house when the republicans returns to power in the lower branch in 1919, the speakership had not been away from the Mississippi river in twenty years. Much of that time the speaker was said to hold more power than the president. Then he was shorn of some of it, but still he is a powerful factor in the legislative branch.

Even when the democrats so shuffled the cards that most of the good things went to the south, there were many important places that came to the west.

Champ Clark of Missouri was speaker from 1911 to 1919. In the height of the Wilson administration the chairman of the senate committee on foreign affairs was Senator Stone of Missouri, who also was second on finance. Other important senate chairmanships in the west were: Agriculture, Gore of Oklahoma; banking and currency, Owen of Oklahoma; interstate commerce, Newlands of Nevada; judiciary, Culberson of Texas; military affairs, Chamberlain of Oregon.

What comes to mind more strongly is the prominence of the west in congress when the speakership was in hands of Henderson of Iowa from 1899 to 1903 and Cannon of Illinois from 1903 to 1911.

It is difficult to call to mind all the commanding positions of those days in the west, but enough can be mentioned to indicate that thus far anyhow the recent changes do not forecast much, if any, greater strength. It should be remembered that while some committees are of greater importance at one time than another, the power of the chairman of the appropriations committee goes on forever. He is the gentleman who holds the purse strings. His job has had an uncanny way of oscillating between Illinois and Iowa.

When Henderson was speaker Cannon was chairman of the house appropriations committee and Allison of Iowa was chairman of the senate appropriations committee. Hitt of this, the 13th Illinois district, was chairman of the house committee on foreign relations and Cullom of Illinois was chairman of the same committee in the senate. That is the committee Borah will have. Hepburn of Iowa was chairman of the committee on interstate commerce and Captain Hull of Iowa was chairman of the committee on military affairs. Before going into the speakership Henderson was chairman of the judiciary committee.

Under the Cannon regime Cullom and Hitt of Illinois still held their respective chairmanships of committee on foreign relations. When Hitt was succeeded by Lowden in our district the house chairmanship passed to Cousins of Iowa. During part of the time Smith of Iowa and Dalzell of Pennsylvania, with the Illinois speaker, constituted the republican membership of three on the famous rules committee in the Cannon administration. Watson of Indiana was the whip of the house.

The senate leader was Aldrich of Rhode Island, but for many years prior to 1908 Allison of Iowa was the senior senator and was at the head of the appropriations committee and second to Aldrich on finance. By reason of his seniority he was entitled to either chairmanship, but not to both.

When the republicans returned to power the house committee on appropriations went to Good of Iowa and when he retired it passed to Madden of Illinois who holds it now. Fordney of Michigan was made chairman of the house committee of ways and means, and upon his retirement it passed to Green of Iowa. Esch of Wisconsin became chairman of the house committee on interstate commerce at an important juncture and Cummins of Iowa was chairman of the senate committee. At the same time Cummins was president pro tempore of the senate, and he has been the active presiding officer since Coolidge became president.

Senator Warren of Wyoming is chairman of the senate committee on appropriations.

In addition to these important western posts Iowa had two cabinet places in the Roosevelt administration, and Illinois had two and Iowa one in the Taft administration, while Cannon was speaker.

SHARK SHOES.

Philippine shark fishers export the fins but make no attempt to utilize any other part of the fish, according to Philippine Bureau of Agriculture report.

Here's opportunity for some good business man. Utilization of shark's skin for leather is the most important part of the new shark fishing industry, which has proved especially profitable along the Florida coast.

Boot and glove manufacturers are demanding great quantities of shark skin. If the industry is developed in the Philippines, America has a market capable of consuming the whole supply.

Who said there was no value in cross-word puzzles? They have reduced the demand for current fiction.

Thrift is worth a lot of money, yet doesn't cost a cent.

Perseverance is merely keeping on doing what you decided to do even after you decide that maybe you shouldn't.

You must figure out things if you are going to outfigure them.

Never try to argue with a man who just likes to argue unless you are big enough to hit him in the nose.

Working too hard is about as bad in the long run as loafing too hard.

You won't have much luck with anything you don't enjoy doing.

Exceeding the speed limit along the road to success is just as dangerous as along any other road.

Blessed are the peacemakers, and cursed are the trouble makers.

What a man does isn't half so important as why he does it.

Ideas are like people. They need rest. If you work one overtime it becomes nervous and troublesome.

The good men do lives after them; the evil gets after them.

The greatest argument for religion is the expression on the faces of those who say they have none.

Some people had rather seem bright than pleasant.

False pride has one virtue. It may force you to do something of which you can be proud.

Success has a habit of coming around while you are busy.

The best way to make a man do what he doesn't want to do is to make him want to do it.

"Oh, ho, ho!" laughed the dragon that had been a tree.

"Do you know any more wishes?" asked the Fairy Queen.
"Yes," said Nick. "I heard a purple beech tree say that it was tired of being just a tree. It saw a picture in a book once and ever since it has been wanting to be a dragon."
"A dragon!" exclaimed the Fairy Queen. "Of all things—for a tree to wish to be a dragon!"
"It did though," said Nancy. "It told the dicky bird and the dicky bird told us."
"All right," said the Fairy Queen. "Come on, Two Spots, take us to the purple beech."
"I would far rather that the wizard attend to this," said the Fairy Queen. "I don't like dragons. But anyway, we'll see how it goes."
Soon they came to the purple beech.
"A beauty it was, all spread out like a gay bouquet—its leaves a dark purple—its trunk and branches a lovely mossy-gray."
"Is it true that you wish to be a dragon?" asked the Fairy Queen.
"Yes'm," said the tree.
"But why a dragon?" asked the Fairy Queen. "Why not a nice bossy cow or a cute little pig or something like that?"
"Humph! What I want is adventure," said the tree. "And whoever heard of a bossy cow and a little pig having adventures?"
"I did," said Nick. Pigs have more adventures than billy goats. Didn't you ever hear of—"
"Will you please be quiet!" said the tree. "Look at that!"
And it waved its arms toward a picture book. Sure enough—there was a dragon with three heads, each one breathing fire.
"You won't have any friends," warned the Fairy Queen.
"Won't need any. Would rather have a long scaly green tail any time," said the tree.
The Fairy Queen sighed. "All right, my dear. A dragon you shall be. Watch out, Two Spots, be ready to fly away quickly."
Then she waved her wand. There stood a horrible green dragon with three heads and a long tail and awful looking eyes like—like jam pots.
"Oh," cried the Twins.
"I quite agree with you," said the Fairy Queen. "Here's where I leave." And away he flew with his passengers.
Six cows in a field jumped the fence and ran into the woods. And the horses ran and the pigs ran and the ducks and geese and chickens ran, and the farmer and his wife ran and every living thing in the whole country ran except the fishes and one frog.
"Oh, ho, ho!" laughed the dragon that had been a tree. "Now I am mighty. It's a great thing to be feared. I suppose the prince will come soon like he did in the picture book and I'll bite his head off."
To think that a lovely kind tree with purple leaves where the blue birds nested should have such blood-thirsty thoughts.
It all shows what a picture book can do sometimes. If you don't look at it the right way.

Several governors suggest referendums in their states on the Twentieth amendment. They know of course, that such a vote could only be advisory, but they assume the legislators would follow it. Doubtless most of them are side stepping, but some of them may be actuated by real conviction that amendments ought to be ratified by the people instead of the legislators.

Since the prompt ratification of the child labor amendment is desirable, this avenue of evasion is unfortunate. But it does raise a larger general question.

We are getting the constitutional amendment habit. Except the bill of rights and the Civil War amendments, there were only two amendments from 1789 to 1913, and these, both passed before 1804, were practically in completion of the original draft. Then, suddenly, we passed four amendments in eight years and are now about ratifying another, with several more in the offing. We patch the constitution more in the term of one congress than our predecessors did in a generation.

This brings out three conflicting types of mind—the conservatives, the radicals and the wets. The progressives, who really did have an idea once, have forgotten it.

The conservatives oppose even good amendments, lest the habit grow. The radicals would make amendments superfluous, by empowering congress to override the constitution. The wets, interested in only one change, want to make that change easier.

Since the 13 dryest states could keep prohibition in the constitution, even if the other 35 turned against it, they would amend the process of amendment, by abolishing state lines in ratification. But since this amendment, too, could be blocked by the 13 dryest states, and they, knowing its purpose, are sure to do so, the agitation is futile. The progressive proposal, to make the vote of ratification by the people in each state, instead of by the legislature, is forgotten.

OLD MACHINES NEED REPAIRS

After all, the conservatives should realize that they are only playing into the hands of the radicals by indiscriminate obstruction; the radicals are chiefly useful to scare the conservatives into action, and the wets, after butting their heads against this wall, will try another. The best way is to realize that old machinery needs more repairs than new; that amendments are necessary and should be judged on their separate merits—and that the child labor amendment should be passed.

STATE BUREAU TO STUDY CAUSES OF ACCIDENTS URGED

State Dept. of Labor to Ask Assembly to Establish Work.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 28.—Believing that industrial accidents in Illinois cannot be materially reduced until definite knowledge of their causes is available, the state department of labor is preparing to ask the General Assembly to create a new division in the department, for the purpose of conducting researches and gathering statistics, according to R. D. Cahn, chief statistician for the department of labor advisory board.

Industrial accidents in Illinois in 1923 reached the largest proportions ever before attained. Mr. Cahn said, "The increase for that year was 15,000, and it will not be long before our annual toll of accidents will be 100,000. In dollars and cents, leaving out the imponderable loss to individuals and societies, industrial accidents have cost the state at least $218,000,000 in the last six years.

"In fact, where safety engineers are employed the loss is very low but apparently individual safety engineers cannot better conditions over the whole state, or even check the increase.

"For this reason we propose to establish, at a very slight cost, a division that will collect statistics on all Illinois factories. With these in hand we can readily determine which factories of a certain type, had the highest and the lowest accident rate. Armed with this information our factory inspectors can go into the plants that suffer the most accidents, compare conditions with the plants having the fewest accidents, and make reforms that will bring the average number of accidents close to the minimum number of accidents.

"The state department of labor is asking the state legislature to create in the department a technical division to deal with the problem, to be known as the Division of Safety Research and Statistics. This division does not mean a large increase in the appropriations. Personnel for the division will be provided by transferring appropriations already made to other divisions for statistical purposes. Only 4 or 5 new positions of a technical character will be created.

"It is expected that this division will undertake to develop facts for use in safety work, on a scale never before attempted by a state labor department. To begin with, we hope to use comprehensive accident rates, especially frequency rates, on a large scale.

"A frequency rate is a mathematical expression of the number of accidents related to the exposure. The unit that has been adopted by the International Association of Accident Boards and Commissions is 100,000 man-hours. We are therefore going to ask employers to report to us annually or oftener the number of man-hours worked, in some cases departmentalized. To this information reduced to the unit basis, we shall refer the record of accidents from the report made to the Industrial Commission by industry. By this method we shall be able to discover what industries have high rates, and therefore in the beginning, can concentrate our safety research upon those industries.

"The value of this plan has been demonstrated, and we are proposing no hypothetical reform. Wherever it has been tried it has resulted in a great reduction of accidents, sometimes as high as 50 percent."

431 Cows Entered in Butterfat Cow Club Test
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Urbana, Jan. 27.—Entries in the Illinois 500-pound Butterfat Cow Club have been increased to 431 with the enrollment of 47 purebred Holsteins from the herd of Rock River Farm, Byron, Ogle county, according to announcement by the Illinois Agricultural College. The entry list will be closed February 1.

The club was started to give the state's high producing cows recognition and at the same time to demonstrate that methods being recommended by the institution for dairy herds are valuable in getting efficient production and consequently increased profits.

Safety Drive Reduces Number Crossing Deaths
The fact that 131 fewer deaths were caused by grade crossing accidents between June 1 and October 1, 1928, than in the same period of 1927, on the basis of Interstate Commerce Commission reports, was attributed by the American Railway Association to the safety campaign being conducted by the railroads. This decrease was brought about despite an increase of approximately 20 per cent in the number of automobiles in use. During the four months of 1924 the statement showed 738 fatalities and 2191 injuries, as compared with 869 and 2172, respectively, during the same period of 1923.

Over 5,000 High School Boys in State Contests
DeKalb, Ill., Jan. 28.—Between 5,000 and 6,000 high school boys will participate in the race for the state high school basketball title, when the district tournaments open in March, according to estimates based upon the experience of former years. Authorities of the Illinois High School Athletic association are endeavoring to limit the number of teams in each tournament to sixteen, and it is possible that more tournaments will have to be arranged in some sections to hold the entries to this figure.

Some of the 37 tournaments now scheduled may have less than 10 entries, and to equalize things some teams in a popular district may be assigned to tournaments where there is a smaller entry list.

Teams are limited to ten players, although the school can enter as many eligible men as it wishes. One hour before the opening game of each tournament the names of the ten men from each team who are to play in the tournament must be in the hands of the managers.

Receipts of the tournaments this year are to be divided in such a manner that the state association will receive ten per cent, the local management 30 per cent and the visiting teams what is left to apply on expenses.

Very often a trivial incident shapes the career of a major league ball player.

Walter Johnson's entrance into the major league would have probably been delayed had not Cliff Blankenship, Washington catcher, suffered a broken finger.

Unable to play, Joe Cantillon, then managing Washington, decided to send Blankenship on a scouting trip that called for him to look over the much touted Mr. Johnson.

Otherwise the American League and Washington might have lost one of its greatest stars.

So it goes down the line. A majority of stars have had some minor incident play a part in their present-day success.

Take Sam Rice, brilliant outfielder of the Washington club. A three-base hit made a star outfielder out of an ordinary pitcher in Rice's case.

George Daus, veteran star of the Detroit club, takes all the credit for the fame that Rice has won as an outfielder.

Unable to get going as a pitcher for the Washington club, Rice finally managed to carry the Detroit club into extra innings, the possibility of victory being in sight.

Then with two out, a man on first and Pitcher Daus up, Rice grew careless, grooved one for Daus and he hit it so far the man on first easily scored the winning run. Daus was credited with a triple.

"I'm through," said Rice as he entered the visiting club's dressing room. "As a pitcher I am a great outfielder. No one is ever going to hit a ball that far again while I am in the league."

Rice made good what the players regarded as a joke threat. He never pitched another ball and became one of the game's greatest fielders.

Last spring Rice broke up a game for Daus with a triple. As Cobb summoned George to the bench, Rice, seated on third, remarked to Daus as he passed him: "George, it mightn't be a bad idea for you to try the outfield."

However, Daus wasn't in the mood to appreciate the quip.

SCHALK PREDICTS COLLINS SUCCESS

Famous Catcher Says Eddie Will Go Big as Sox Manager

BY BILLY EVANS

"Eddie Collins is certain to be a big success as manager of the Chicago White Sox."

So remarked Ray Schalk, famous catcher of the White Sox, to me shortly after the announcement that he would succeed Johnny Evers.

"Collins has everything that goes to make a great manager," continued Schalk.

"His record as a player is an inspiration to every athlete. They know their leader knows his stuff."

"In addition, Eddie has the courage, proper temperament and the ideal disposition. Every White Sox will want to do his best for Collins, and after all, that is half the battle for a manager."

Sox Won't Be Last

"I am willing to go on record right now that the Sox won't finish in last place the coming season."

"My one hope is that I will be in good shape during the 1929 campaign, fit to give Collins my best and thereby contribute my mite to his success."

"Last season, during the month that he managed the club while Johnny Evers was ill, I was only able to catch a couple of games, due to a broken finger. I never wanted to play more in my life."

"Just say for me that the White Sox are not going to be soft picking this year and that every player on the ball club will give his best. The team to a man is for Eddie."

I went at all surprised by the remarks of the brilliant little catcher of the White Sox. That's the kind of a fellow he is.

Strong for Collins

I seriously doubt if there was a single member of the team more pleased than Schalk over the appointment of Collins.

As a matter of fact, Collins is exceedingly fortunate in having so great a catcher to cinder with on the many angles of the game that confront a manager.

Last season several injuries handicapped Schalk in his play. If he can catch from 75 to 100 games for Collins this season, it will mean much to the team and the manager.

Collins is a protégé of Connie Mack. The instruction he received as a player from Mack is certain to be of value now that he is a manager.

First Aid to Leaders

At Chicago he played under Kid Gleason for several years. The two are the direct opposite as to types, so that Collins has had a broad schooling.

During the reigns of Gleason, Rowland and Evers as managers of the Chicago club, Collins was first aid to them.

No brainer, more capable player ever wore a pair of spiked shoes than Collins. He should be a big hit and vie with the other star player managers.

SIX NEW MARKS MADE IN ANNUAL GAMES LAST EVE

Nurmi, Frigerio, Osborne Shattered Old Marks Easily.

New York, Jan. 28.—(By the Associated Press)—Six world records, one of them made by the relentless Paavo Nurmi of Finland, were established last night at the annual games of the Millrose A. A. in Madison Square Garden. Willie Ritola of the Finnish-American A. C. broke four in a three-mile race and Harold Osborne, of the Illinois A. C., jumped 6 feet 6 1/2 inches high, erasing the mark set by Leroy Brown of Detroit.

Nurmi's accomplishment, perhaps was the most remarkable for he conquered Joe Ray of Chicago and Jimmy Connolly of Washington in a race at three-quarters of a mile, the shortest distance he has attempted in this country and one believed to have given the American title holder, Ray, the best opportunity he has had to defeat the Finn.

Nurmi, in a field of six, was last to get away, climbed steadily in the line until only Connolly and Ray were ahead of him, and then, with a lap to go, set such a furious pace that the field was ten yards behind at the end. Nurmi was looking over his shoulder as he ran the final 100 yards. His time was 3 minutes 3 4/5 seconds.

Nurmi had to share the glory of the evening for Hugo Frigerio, a little dark-skinned mite from Milan, Italy, who walked, waved and smiled his way to victory in the Olympic games, did the same in his first exhibition on board track. Frigerio was not extended in his first start, a three mile event, but will have a good test tonight, about the best this continent can give when he faces George Goulding of Canada, former Olympic champion, who is appearing in New York for the first time in eight years.

years, and Willie Plant, the best in the United States.

About everything possible for one night had happened when Willie Ritola appeared for the three-mile run in which Ernie Booth, former John Hopkins star, and Ilmar Prim of the Finnish-American A. C., proved to be his leading antagonists.

Booth who finished second, was more than a lap behind, in a test that established four world marks and clipped seven and three-fifths seconds off the indoor record for the full distance that Ritola established in Brooklyn last Saturday night.

His other new times were: two and one-quarter mile 10:33 2-5; two and one-half mile 11:45 4-5 and two and three-quarter mile 12:57 4-5. He held all of the former records.

MONTREAL IS BIGGEST WHEAT EXPORTING CITY

Leads World for Four Consecutive Years as Wheat Center.

Washington, D. C.—For the fourth successive year Montreal announces its supremacy as the greatest wheat exporting city in North America. So great is the yellow flow through Montreal, that its shipments abroad exceeded the combined exports of its seven chief rivals in the United States: New York, Galveston, New Orleans, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Norfolk and Boston, up to September of last year.

"The staff of life has been a magic wand for the Canadian metropolis," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society from its headquarters at Washington, D. C.

A Panorama of Wheat.

"Waving it, Montreal raises another skyscraper on her water front. Take an elevator to the 15th floor of No. 1, St. Lawrence River, Montreal's chief wheat 'office,' look out a window to the west, and the story of Montreal and its part in supplying that grain lies revealed.

"At one's feet an ocean liner rests snugly against a wharf, beside a long gallery which sprouts below like a root of the skyscraper itself. Within that gallery huge, wide, running belts are man-made creek beds for a stream bank full of wheat. The liner is receiving in its hold the product of more than 10 acres of wheat land every minute.

"Close under the protecting shadow of the liner lies a smaller steamship. It has lines like a German dachshund; much open deck lies between the superstructures fore and aft. Beneath the hatches which cut the deck into a gridiron is more yellow wheat from Port Colborne, Ontario, waiting to be stored in the grain elevator. In the open water of this harbor sector fretting tugs line up at appointed places, like cavalry horses. Now and then with a snort of white steam and a puff of black smoke then dart from their 'company front' on a double quick to push some ocean leviathan in or out of its berth.

Neck of Grain Bottle.

"At the right of the tug line is the main neck of North America's wheat bottle, the end of the Lachine Canal. Montreal is the queen of wheat ports and more than 60 per cent of her 'yellow gold' comes down the St. Lawrence by water. Over to the left the sun catches the glint of white water on the Lachine rapids, head of navigation of the 1,000 mile Nature-made canal which is this bottle's mouth. Braving the rapids is the spidery black line of the Victoria Bridge with trains shunting across it almost constantly. To the right, under the wooded Mount Royal is the city, founded by Chevalier Maisonneuve, but built as much as anything by wheat.

"Westward the canal and railroad blend with the smoky mist through which one seems to see the winding miles of river, the blue of the Great Lakes and the breadth of the valleys of the Red River and Mississippi—flat plains where the sky is a cover pressed to earth at the horizon and wheat is filling between the crusts. Montreal's life springs are in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Minnesota and the Dakotas where winter white gives way to green in spring, golden in summer, brown stubble in fall and back to white again.

"Assume out there a farm where nothing but wheat grows, where there are no houses, no trees, no waste land—just wheat. If it produced on an average of 15 bushels to the acre that farm would have to be half as large as Indiana to raise enough wheat to satisfy Montreal's shipping demands for the past year.

Working Down From the Top.

"Most things must be viewed from the bottom up, but not a Montreal grain elevator; it works from the top down. As soon as a boat or train is emptied the wheat goes by conveyors to the top, finding lodging in huge bins. On the next floor below it is weighed. Stationed at a battery of huge containers, dusty workmen let in a flood of wheat from above. Then can estimate a ton to a fraction of a pound. Released by a lever, the grain falls a floor to a five foot moving lift. Almost before it can settle down to a pleasant ride it reaches a big steel cart on rails which precipitately dumps it into what looks like a bottomless pit, but isn't. Later the wheat will emerge from the pit for another belt ride, through galleries stretching a mile and a quarter along the water front, to be dumped summarily into an ocean liner or tramp.

"Receiving grain is more complicated than dispatching it. At Duluth or Port Arthur or Port Williams big lake freighters take wheat from box cars and bring it to Port Colborne, at the head of the Wellington Canal, or to Buffalo or Cleveland if it goes out through the United States. At Port

ALL WORN OUT

So Was Mr. Davis Who Tells His Experience.

Are you tired all the time; worn-out night and day? Does your back ache as if it would break? Do you suffer dizziness, headaches, rheumatic twinges or distressing urinary disorders? You have good cause, then, to be alarmed about your kidneys. Do as many of your townfolk recommend. Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. This Dixon case is convincing.

R. E. Davis, 1214 W. Third Street says: "I had dull, throbbing pains in the small of my back and when I bent over and tried to straighten, sharp, stabbing pains caught me across my kidneys. I just felt tired and worn out and I had to get up of ten during the night to pass the secretions. Hearing of Doan's Pills I used a box and they cured me."

A Third Time Charmer

Maurice "Lefty" Flynn, former Yale football star and now motion picture actor, has been married twice before, but Miss Grace Raymond doesn't care. The third time may be a charm, so Grace and "Lefty" will wed in April. "Lefty" was barred from Yale in 1913 after marrying Irene Leary, a chorus girl. His second wife was Blanche Shove Palmer of Hollywood.

Colborne steamers that can just squeeze through the locks of the St. Lawrence canal, take on the wheat. At Montreal, finally, huge bucket conveyors are lowered from the elevator through the hatches and start the grain to the skyscraper's top. As grain in the ship's hold gets low, men with huge steel scoops go in. A rope is attached to each scoop and when the workman has dug it into a pile of grain a winch on signal pulls it up to the conveyors' snout, filling the buckets with grain. Four lake steamers, or a train of 116 cars of grain, are required to fill an average ocean tramp.

Toying With Freight Cars. "Automated grain dumpers have been installed in some Montreal elevators. Picking up a loaded car like a toy, they push in the door, tip the car on its side, emptying the wheat into a pit and set it back on its wheels at the rate of one box car in a little less than ten minutes.

"Farmers should never go to grain elevators. Confidence that one's efforts are doing something for the world is a handmaiden to happiness. Back in Minnesota two hundred acres of waving wheat inspire pride in a farmer's heart but they do not cut much of a figure in Montreal. If the farmer came to the Canadian metropolis he could view the arrival of his year's effort and worry in one box car and one half of another, or in a small corner of a lake steamer. It would be unloaded from either conveyance in less than twenty minutes.

"In the top of the grain 'skyscraper' he would see him 200 acres of wheat dumped into a bin which would still be nine-tenths empty. Yet there may be a hundred more bins in this honeycomb called a grain elevator. Could he still stand the strain he might watch his wheat drop into the hold of a liner in about 12 minutes. Wheat must move fast at the neck of the bottle and faster yet when ice corks the neck between December and May and so Montreal is capital of wheat—and of agrarian humility."

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

Hundredth Anniversary of First School is Near

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Tamara, Jan. 28—Provision for the proper observance of the 100th anniversary of Illinois' first public school will be asked of the 64th general assembly in a bill to be introduced by Elbert Waller, member of the lower house from this district.

The nature of the observance which he will suggest, together with details for carrying out the school centennial program has not yet been determined.

The first free school law passed in Illinois was the work of the fourth general assembly, which met at Vandalia, then the state capital, November 15, 1824. The bill was passed in January, 1825, and has since come to be recognized as the most important legislative action taken by that body.

It merely recognized the duty of the state to provide a means of education for persons within its boundaries and authorized the expenditure of money for that purpose. Although incomplete in form, the original statute formed the foundation on which the whole school code is based.

This fact and a recognition of the present-day importance of a law passed 100 years ago, Waller seeks to have emphasized by a formal observance.

"TOUGHEST BOY," WHO LIED HIS WAY INTO PRISON, ADMITS HE WAS FOOLING

By NEA Service

Council Bluffs, Ia.—Ray Snodderly, 16, wanted to be known as the world's toughest boy.

He wanted a thrill and felt that he could not get the required kick out of life if he would land himself in prison.

Now he is there for a term of 25 years—the excitement has passed, and he waits anxiously for the governor to give him his liberty and send him back to his home in Wichita, Kan.

For Ray is not a bad boy—on the contrary, he is quite good—but he has a wonderful imagination.

He lied himself into prison—convicted after he had confessed to a number of crimes here.

"I'm a bad egg and went to confess my crimes to get them off my conscience," he told Sheriff Percy Labson one night when he applied at the county jail for lodging.

Unfolds Crimes

Then Snodderly unfolded a story of crimes in all parts of the country, including holdups, robberies, bootlegging, thieving, shooting, burglaries, and a lot of other things.

"Did you have anything to do with the holdup and shooting in Cafe No. 15," asked Labson.

"Yes, I'm the guy that did the shooting," Ray answered.

"My name is 'Scarfinger Ted,' and I belong to a gang of 125 gunmen, with Chicago as headquarters," he went on.

"We have a place over there on the lake front with an underground entrance so we can get away if the police surround the place.

"We take our orders from 'Diamond Dick,' our chief. He carries two pearl handled revolvers besides a blackjack. He is a smooth talker, large nose somewhat flat, a scar circles his right eye, and there is a shot notch in his left ear."

Then Snodderly described, down to the smallest detail, such characters as "Kansas City Hutch," "Pick 'Em Up Red," "Two Trigger Slim," "Shorty Carlson," and others.

Red Throws Knives

"Pick 'Em Up Red," according to Snodderly's story, carried two knives.

"When it is not expedient to use his guns, he throws his knives," the boy said.

"And he can throw one of those knives right through a man, too."

Snodderly, when taken to court for the cafe holdup, pleaded guilty and the judge sentenced him to 25 years in the state prison at Fort Madison.

Then it was discovered that Snodderly had lied himself into prison, investigations proved that he did not have anything to do with the cafe robbery—in fact, he was in Kansas City the night of the robbery.

Many of the crimes, he confessed, were never committed.

"But I got a lot of kick out of my story," he told officers in admitting that he had lied.

He now says he got most of his

"WIDE WATERS"

By Captain Dingle

THE clouds rush down to greet the sea out there—and the wide green waters roll to the thundering melody of wind and rain. . . .

There were two strong men—and the one loved a woman and the other loved the sea. The one stood on the rain-swept deck and watched the fury of the skies. The other sat in a cabin and read the love in a woman's eyes.

It was for beautiful Mary Manning to choose—Mary Manning, trueblood daughter of the ocean mists. Great, lusty brute-men there were on the clipper Orontes, southward-bound. And Mary Manning—a madman's plaything. . . .

The Top-Shaped D. B.

There is nothing new under the sun for, as some witty wight once declared, even the Irish bull used to be a calf in Greece. Any fashion of to-day is merely a throw-back from yesterday, or to lapse into colloquial low-brow—it's old stuff. Men's styles have never had and can never have the far-flung range of women's modes. It is not in the cards. They can only be revivals and repetitions, bringing back, at regular intervals, what has gone before.

A case in point—the double-breasted sack suit, now so smart for young men and for men not so young. This model, one of the oldest in men's dress, is patterned after the pilot jacket of those who follow the sea. In England it is quaintly termed, "reefer." Not so many years ago, the D. B., as it is familiarly known, was the reigning fashion. Then, as all styles do in this country, it passed into the limbo of forgotten fashions, though its vogue in England, where the mode is taken more seriously, was not impaired. Indeed, the well-turned-out Londoner would be jolly well sunk before he would dispense with his indispensable "reefer." To him, it is not simply a coat, but a style indivisibly bound up with the wardrobe of the gentleman.

Just what has brought back the double-breasted suit into marked favor is difficult to say. Undoubtedly, the illustrious example of the Prince of Wales, the young man's beau ideal, has had something to do with the revival. Anyway, the D. B. is here and young men everywhere are re-adopting the model. Certainly, it sets up and sets off the slim-and-trim youthful figure better than the single-breasted coat, though it is not so well suited to the mature, thickest man.

Perhaps the smartest current style in double-breasted coats is portrayed in the accompanying sketch. It is broad at the shoulders and tapers to narrowness at the waist, somewhat like a top. Both buttons and pockets are placed low. The collar is wide and notched. The lapels are sharply peaked. The coat is rather short and has no vent in the back. Three buttons to button or three buttons with two to button—you may choose at your whim. The latter is most favored.

The Tangle

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRE-
COTT TO THE LITTLE MAR-
QUISE, CONTINUED

"I don't know, Jack," I said, "why everybody seems to think that I shall be unhappy if my baby is not a daughter. I think brothers are perfectly lovely."

Jack seemed to want to change the subject. "Your mother must think I am a brute, Leslie," he said.

"No, dear mother has just been talking about you and I had decided to send to you tonight. So you see we had the same thought at the same time."

"You darling," said my husband and he closed my eyes with kisses.

"Jack," I said, "I found out many things today about men and women, age and youth, love and hate, pride and humility and I tell you that I think that a woman like my dear mother age has many compensations."

Jack pushed his head around so that he could look into my face.

"Yes," I answered, "I know that women are expected to lose all when they get old. Even now you do not seem to be able to contemplate me with equanimity after my youth has fled. But mother told me today that when a woman has reached the point to where she can look upon her whole life and understand it is good, she has reached a point where she can rest a while and give herself the wonderful pleasure of being a 'looker on.'"

"Let's don't be 'lookers on,' Leslie. That seems to sound as though we might be apart and I never want to be apart from you again. Dearest, I know that women are expected to lose all when they get old. Even now you do not seem to be able to contemplate me with equanimity after my youth has fled.
